Mango Variety	Growth Classification	Managed Height (with pruning)	Highlights & Growing Suitability
Alphonso (Image 1)	Dwarf / Compact	2.0m – 3.0m	The famous Indian "King of Mangoes". Naturally forms a highly compact evergreen shape ideal for containers or tight spaces.
Nam Doc Mai (Image 1)	Semi-Dwarf / Compact	2.5m – 3.5m	A classic premium Thai variety. It is heavily sought after for backyard pot culture because it stays small while producing high yields of fiberless golden fruit.
Glenn (Image 1)	Semi-Dwarf / Compact	2.0m – 3.5m	One of the top-recommended compact varieties for home patios. It is exceptionally easy to keep trimmed down to a small size.
Khiew Sawoey (Image 1)	Manageable / Semi-Dwarf	3.0m – 4.0m	A famous Thai green-eating mango. While a slightly more upright grower than the Alphonso, its canopy is naturally dense and can easily be kept small with regular pruning.
Keitt (Image 2)	Standard (Low-Vigor)	3.5m – 4.5m	A late-season variety. The tree itself is not technically classified as a true dwarf, but it exhibits a low-vigor, spreading habit that makes it much easier to control than large traditional mango trees.